AFGE PUBLIC RELATIONS

— George Rider has been appointed to the new post of public relations director of the American Federation of Government Employees. Rider comes from Detroit where he has been a public relations officer on the staff of the United Auto Workers Union. Rider also will have over-all editorial supervision of the AFGE's weekly paper, the "Government Standard," replacing Ellis Rottman, who has resigned. Rottman did a fine job with the Standard, making it one of the best union publications in the country.
